Board and Churches to Make Good Amount, He Says; Plans for Future.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Richmond police today received a telegram from police authorities of Atlanta saying that Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Church, was thought to be in Richmond, and requesting that he be arrested on sight, as a criminal warrant, the telegram said, had been issued against him. Carnes is reported to have been in Richmond within the last few days.

Posse of 1,000 Men Trails Bank Bandits

Fugitives, Who Still Have Loot Totaling $6,000, Thought Located.

Missouri Valley, Iowa, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—A posse of 1,000 men, assembled by the blowing of the town hall siren, set out today on a "hot tip" as first to the whereabouts of the two bandits who held up the State Savings Bank and escaped with $6,000 yesterday.

A package containing $45,000 in bonds was found by sheriff's deputies five miles north of here today apparently dropped by the fleeing robbers. At intervals along the trail the posse, with bloodhounds, discovered dropped coins where the bandits had climbed through fences.

The large posse moved upon a farm a few miles north of Missouri Valley where fresh footprints had been found. Plans called for the formation of a huge line, like the advance of an army, over an area a mile wide.

It was believed the bandits were hiding near the farm awaiting nightfall before continuing their flight.

Uncle Admits Slaying Boy, 6, for Vengeance

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 6.—The strangled body of Salvatore Santomarco, 6, was found in a burlap sack under a pile of stones in the weedy rear yard of the boy's slayer's home at Coney Island early tonight, the victim of his uncle's vengeance.

Luigi Panarella, 30, a longshoreman, broke down and confessed two hours later that he slew the child because of his hatred for the Santomarco family.

Princess Mary Loses Race Horses in Blaze

London, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Six valuable race horses were burned to death tonight in a fire at Goldsborough Hall, the Yorkshire home of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles. The fire was started at the time, the victim of his uncle's vengeance.

Dr. Louis H. Taylor, Phillips' physician and his close personal friend, told reporters today that he doubted whether the body buried as Phillips was actually that of the sever contractor.

Subsequently Dr. Victor E. Johnson, the Atlantic City physician who attended Phillips, declared positively that the man he had visited and whose death certificate he had signed was the sever magnate.

"The trick wouldn't be beyond him," Dr. Taylor was quoted by the Evening Post as saying. "The body didn't look like Jack Phillips. He had been a very sick man and the man in the coffin was robust."

In a subsequent interview with the Brooklyn Eagle Dr. Taylor repeated his remarks to the Evening Post and added:

Suspects Magnate Hiding.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see Jack Phillips walk in here at any time."

He said that he thought the body ought to be exhumed and an autopsy performed.

Shortly after the funeral services for Phillips, who died in Atlantic City, a Federal grand jury in Brooklyn re-

HINES PLAN TO CUT LEAVE STIRS LEGION

Pershing Is Made Chairman of Committee to Look Into Proposal.

INVOLVES ACTIVE DUTY

When Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau, not long ago intimated that he did not know who had bought the weapons, and he was arrested on a charge of perjury. Today he informed the district attorney he was ready to tell all.

"Goldberg said he had lied at first because he was afraid to tell the truth," said Assistant District Attorney Schofield. "We had learned that he had sold machine guns and bulletproof vests to Max Hoff. Having found, in Goldberg's store among other evidence, a telegram to Hoff relating to a machine gun, he told us Hoff personally ordered, bought and paid for machine guns and bulletproof vests and that on one occasion Hoff ordered and paid for three of the guns which were delivered to 'Boot' Miller, now sought on a murder charge."

Released Under $10,000 Bail.

Golding told the grand jury yesterday he did not know who had bought the weapons, and he was arrested on a charge of perjury. Today he informed the district attorney he was ready to tell all.

"Goldberg said he had lied at first because he was afraid to tell the truth," said Assistant District Attorney Schofield. "We had learned that he had sold machine guns and bulletproof vests to Max Hoff. Having found, in Goldberg's store among other evidence, a telegram to Hoff relating to a machine gun, he told us Hoff personally ordered, bought and paid for machine guns and bulletproof vests and that on one occasion Hoff ordered and paid for three of the guns which were delivered to 'Boot' Miller, now sought on a murder charge."

Goldberg was at liberty tonight under $10,000 bail after a preliminary hearing on the perjury charge. The district attorney's office said he would be accorded the fullest protection.

In addition to Goldberg's statement, District Attorney Monaghan said he had evidence indicating that Hoff had paid for machine guns sold by Goldberg to Frankie Bailey and Pete Ford, gangsters, a few days before the murder of John Bricker and the wounding of Mickey Duffy, in February, 1927.

Bailey and Ford were arrested but subsequently released. Afterward, Mr. Monaghan said, they were taken to Hoff's apartment and measured for bullet-proof vests.

Mr. Monaghan announced tonight that documents seized by his office indicate that Philadelphia was one of the "pivot points" for the distribution of alcohol throughout the country. He said that 350,000 gallons of grain alcohol had been delivered the last two years from one Philadelphia distillery.

The executive committee, which is composed of the departmental officers and representatives from the 23 Legion posts in the District, was in session, by a bizarre coincidence, in the Veterans' Bureau itself when a resolution was introduced asking investigation of the matter.

The executive committee, after consideration, authorized Col. Wood to appoint the special committee, and he compiled by naming the following, in addition to Gen. Pershing and Gen. Bethel: Maj. Frederick William Will, Gen. C. E. Tilburne, Capt. Paul V. Collins, Capt. John O'Connor Roberts and Lieut. Forrest F. Bartle, the last-named two being representatives of the bureau employees.

The committee is expected to report at the next regular session of the executive committee, which is scheduled for the third Monday in September.

In view of Gen. Pershing's absence from the city on a trip to the East, it is not expected that any inquiry will be begun until his return, probably early next week.

Col. Wood emphasized the tentative nature of the whole proceeding, declaring that he did not know personally anyone of any statement of Gen. Hines that would imply curtailment of leave privileges for employees desiring military leave for active military training in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

A high official in the Veterans' Bureau, who preferred to remain unnamed, however, said that while no "order" had issued from Gen. Hines' office, the bureau director had suggested in a communication to Lieut. Col. J. Miller Kenyon, former leader of the District American Legion, that due to conditions in the bureau it would be necessary to curtail the annual leave of employees who wished to assume active status and take advantage of the Officers' Reserve training.

The Grant left port yesterday for San Francisco with more than 100 general prisoners for the Alcatraz Island Prison. The three who escaped, in some manner obtained a canoe. The canoe was upset by waves from a liner, and the men clung to their tiny craft's sides all night.

This move was made necessary, it was declared, by the act of Congress of last May in the matter of disabled emergency officers.

This act is said to have thrown a heavy burden of additional work on the bureau, and prompted Gen. Hines' attitude in his reply to Col. Kenyon.

Herfeat surprised everyone, including herself. She used one of the oldest type of German balloons and had entered a competition with 39 other balloons for the purpose of obtaining a pilot's license.

She was accompanied only by the balloon pilot, Berliner, holder of the German long distance record. She had taken along no warm clothing and only a small amount of food.

Beauty Shop Planned to Aid Recovery of Insane Women

New Jersey Asylum Head Moves to Prove Patients' Interest in Their Personal Appearance Has Direct Influence on Mental Condition.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 6.—If you ever were a movie director you'd have a hard time believing it, but the scientists say it's so, and scientists ought to know.

Beauty, they say, is good for brains. But there's a catch.

New formula works only in cases when science is sure there's at least a trace of brains. They discovered it in a place where brains, mostly addled ones, are under constant observation—in an insane asylum.

"Our experience has proved," says Dr. Guy Payne, superintendent of the Essex County Hospital for the Insane at Overbrook, N. J., "that when patients are beautified their mental condition also improves."

So Dr. Payne recommended the establishment of a beauty parlor in the hospital and the County Board of Freeholders at a meeting today, approved his recommendation.

The 2,000 patients will have the services of a staff of barbers and women beauty experts. Faces will be lifted, crowns ironed out, sags patted into place and every other process known to the art of beautification will be invoked to keep heads neat and faces smooth, soft and pink.

Dr. Payne told the board that experiments at the hospital had confirmed the good results of the establishment of a beauty parlor at the State Hospital at Kankakee, Ill.

Women patients whose hair had been bobbed by the two barbers at the hospital began to show a new interest in life. After facial treatments which partially restored their vanity, declared by a well-known Hebrew monarch to be inherent in normal human nature, the patients improved enormously.

The results of the experiments, according to the superintendent, far exceeded all expectations. In almost all cases a patient felt better when conscious of looking better.

There will be only one restriction to the process of beautification.

"No lipsticks," ruled Edwin Hines, director of the Board of Freeholders.

It would do, it was explained, to pull patients out of one kind of lunacy into another.

publican leader, who thus far has taken no definite stand on the presidential nominees, has eight electoral votes. Four of its six members of Congress are Democrats.

Carried by the Democratic national ticket in 1908, 1912 and 1916, the State was in the Republican column eight and four years ago. Harding carried it by nearly 120,000 and Coolidge in 1924 had a plurality of more than 80,000, although his vote was 26,000 short of the combined Davis-La Follette total.

Charles W. Bryan, brother of the Commoner, is the Democratic gubernatorial nominee in Nebraska, aspiring to the post he held four years ago when he became his party's vice-presidential nominee. Gov. McMullen, a Republican, of the McNary-Haugen school on farm relief, has lined up for Hoover, although he opposed him in the pre-convention period and the farm relief plan adopted at Kansas City. Mark Woods, who shares his views on the farm question, was active in the Kansas City convention, another Nebraskan who now is in the Hoover-La Follette camp.

May Discuss Farm Free.

Although he has not disclosed his intentions, it is regarded as quite likely that Gov. Smith, in his Omaha speech, will take steps to clear up any uncertainty as to his stand on the equality feature of the McNaury-Haugen bill. He has decided to be drawn out on the point, explaining that he stood on the party platform which makes no mention of the provision, but has indicated he will discuss the subject fully on the stump, as he proposes to do with other campaign issues.

In Oklahoma, which has ten electoral votes, the New York Governor will speak in a State that has gone Democratic in every presidential year since it attained statehood, except 1920, when Harding had a plurality of nearly 30,000. In 1924 Davis had a similar margin over Coolidge, but fell about 12,000 short of equaling the combined Coolidge-La Follette vote.

Oklahoma is a Democratic state, and a Republican senator, while all but one of its eight members of the House of Representatives are Democrats. The State in recent years has been torn by the Ku Klux Klan issue, and this has led to speculation that Oklahoma in his speech in the capital might bring up the question of religion in politics.

Indian Vote a Factor.

Another factor entering into the Oklahoma situation is the trend in the Indian vote. Democratic leaders recognize that Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican vice presidential nominee, will make an appeal to members of the five civilized tribes, and are making a strenuous campaign of their own to win the Indian vote.

Colorado, with two Republican sen-

JAPANESE ACCUSED OF POISON PLOTTING

Insane Oriental Captured in California Charged With Mailing Death Candy.

OFFICIALS WERE TARGETS

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Efforts of M. Higashi, insane Japanese, to poison several titled Japanese officials brought him into the hands of authorities, who will hold him until it is determined into whose custody he finally shall be delivered.

Higashi, who had escaped from the State hospital for the insane at Napa, Calif., is alleged by Toyagi Kaneko, Japanese vice consul at San Francisco, to have mailed death candy to several eminent Japanese in Tokyo and to the Japanese consuls in Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Oreg.

Kaneko said intelligence forces of the Japanese government, aided by American officials, had sought Higashi for six months before he was taken into custody in Emeryville, a suburb of Oakland, where the candy was mailed.

Two of the high officials who received some of the candy are Prince Tatsujiro Nagawa, president of the Japanese house of peers, and Prince Fumimaro Korgye, a member of that body.

Each of the boxes was accompanied by a threatening letter which led the recipients to have the contents analyzed, and found that poison was discovered. No one ate the candy so far as could be learned.

Vice Consul Kaneko said he would try to have Higashi deported in order that Japanese authorities might deal with him. The packages and letters were sent anonymously, but the handwriting led to Higashi's capture at a Japanese club.

Ators and its congressional delegation of four equally divided politically, went Republican in 1924 and 1920, but was won by the Democrats in the three previous presidential elections. Four years ago Coolidge had a 50,000 majority over the combined vote of Davis and La Follette and in 1920 Harding carried the State, which has since been won by Henry Ford.

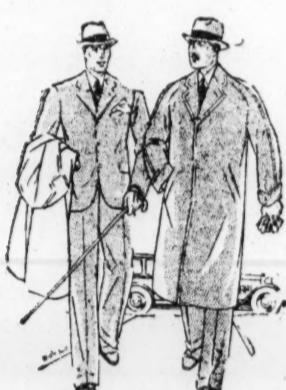

The Democrats are coming strongly in this year's campaign on making an impressive showing in Denver. At a special election called a year or so ago to fill a vacancy in the Denver district elected a Democrat to Congress, and that result was widely heralded as a victory for the wets, a victory for the wet.

$10,000,000 Device Planned to Make Flying More General Than Ever.

SCHOOLS ARE A FEATURE

Los Angeles, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Three bullets fired at close range into the head and body of Barbara Mauger, 19-year-old Philadelphia waitress, were the direct cause of her death, an assistant county autopsy surgeon testified late today at the opening of the trial of Russell St. Clair Beitzel for her murder. The official, Frank R. Webb, was the first witness called by the State after a jury of seven men and five women had been chosen.

Beitzel, who beat up the girl from the Eastern city last year in a Hollywood apartment, is accused of killing the girl in a Hollywood Hills canyon after refusing her request to marry her. On a second count, he is charged with the murder of the girl's unborn child. Beitzel entered pleas of not guilty, and was given by reason of insanity, and was set free.

Casey Jones, head of the old flying service, is to be present and Mr. Keys, president of the Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co., is to be chairman of a nation-wide taxicab service, to establish properly equipped flying schools throughout the country and to form a nation-wide sales and service organization for the products of the Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co. Similar automobile sales organizations and the like will be used.

Twenty-five fields of not guilty.

Mr. Keys explained that the first step to be taken will be the collection of complete equipment for 25 flying fields to be situated throughout the country. Representatives of the Curtiss organization now are choosing the sites for them.

The company will endeavor to cooperate with existing fields through the establishment of subagents. The policy of the company will be to supplement rather than to compete with regular air and rail transportation.

The flying school program calls for the establishment of primary schools in various parts of the country to train air enthusiasts for private pilots' licenses, while three advanced schools, providing complete training for regular transport pilots, are projected for one in the East, one for the Middle West, and one for the Pacific Coast.

Jones explained that these advanced schools will offer a course of about a year and provide more thorough training in flying than any now available in the United States.

HOPE FOR REDEEMED ACCIDENTS.

Under better flying training is made generally available, he declared, "we must continue to expect accidents."

Jones hoped the Curtiss project would do for aviation what the good roads movement had done for the automobile industry.

The ruling came after the day's third legal wrangle, held in the absence of the jury of six men and six women.

The court again turned the defense to call several witnesses whom Hahn planned to have testify concerning alleged habitual fainting spells suffered by Mrs. Mellus for several years. The court sustained the State's objection to calling such evidence prior to September 1927, on the grounds it was "too remote."

The defense had indicated its plan to attempt to prove that a fall during a fainting spell, caused the woman's death.

Man Offers Judge Car To Cover Parking Fine

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 6.—In Manhattan traffic court, today appeared Ben Markofsky, 21, shy and slim, accused of parking too long. Fined $5, he told the court he could not pay and added: "I'll have to keep the car. It only cost me $4."

He explained to the astonished magistrate that it ran all right and that he had driven it into the Times Square district to look for a job. Commending him for his "nerve and faith," the magistrate suspended sentence.

"I'm more confident that Smith will carry the Northwest," he said, "than I was when Wilson ran." The farmers are out for him because of his promised farm relief. They regard him as a man of action.

Northwest for Smith, Declares Hansbrough

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Henry Clay Hansbrough, for the Northwest, and now chairman of the Smith Independent League in the Northwest, told party leaders at Democratic national headquarters today that Gov. Smith will carry North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Montana, with their block of 39 electoral votes.

"I'm more confident that Smith will

HOOVER'S SOUTHERN TRIP ROUSES FEARS

Backing North Carolina Aims, in Speech, May Cost New England Votes.

FACES OTHER PROBLEMS

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

There is some apprehension in certain Republican quarters over the adventurous aspects of Herbert Hoover's invasion of the South. At Elizabeth, Tenn., October 6, to speak interestingly to the people of Tennessee and North Carolina he must and plans to discuss waterpower and industry, which in this particular setting are believed to carry plenty of political dynamite.

It so happens that there has been quite an industrial war on for several years between North Carolina, especially, and New England. The Tarheel State has been drawing heavily on New England's textile industry. It is no small measure responsible in the present bad state of the industry in New England. The New Englanders have been vainly trying to stem the tide. Their representatives in Congress have sought legislation to this end. Notably in this regard is their effort to have an antitrust amendment adopted regulating child labor.

The North Carolinians have looked upon this strictly as an enemy move in the economic war rather suggestive of the factors leading up to the Civil War. Thus far they have succeeded in this measure as well as other moves which they considered unfriendly.

Watched by New England.

So the problem for Mr. Hoover is speaking to North Carolina is how to make it safe for Massachusetts, Rhode Island and other New England States will be watching him closely. It will be all right for him to discuss the tariff, for North Carolina is a high tariff State, but if he gets into the field of labor costs, which is general strike, industry opens up he will be treading on dangerous ground.

The question arises, in fact, as to whether his very presence near the Tarheel State will not suggest to residents of New England that North Carolina is a Republican New England would do its economic harm and tend to solidify the Democratic ranks. And the outcome is to be too close in Massachusetts and Rhode Island for Mr. Hoover to go very far in reassuring the Southern State.

Mr. Hoover is said already to be giving consideration to his speech. Whether in its final form he will take a definite stand on waterpower and whether he will take issue with Gov. Smith on this subject, remains to be seen. There are those who say he can hardly afford to bring up this question again without doing so.

Opposes Public Ownership.

The impression prevails that he would make known his views they would clash with those of Gov. Smith. The New York Government rulers and owners of power units, as has already been reported, does not bar or discourage private operation, much to the disappointment of the Middle Western program. The general belief is that if Mr. Hoover commits himself his attitude would not be in favor of Government ownership in any form. President Coolidge, whose policies he is pledged to carry on, is a strong advocate of private ownership.

Yet a declaration by Mr. Hoover might prove embarrassing in southern California, if not the whole State. It is conceivable that it might bring about a bitter争 between him and Senator Hiram Johnson.

The senator is basing his campaign on the waterpower "trust" in general, and Boulder Dam in particular. As it is there is noticeable coolness between Mr. Hoover and the senator. In fact, in Southern California, there is an Al Smith-Johnson movement on, and the senator at least has not repudiated it.

Favor Some Kind of Dam.

The Johnson-Swing Boulder Dam bill involves Government ownership. More than a year ago there were reports that an agreement had been reached whereby Senator Johnson was to support the bill, and the latter was to support Senator Dam.

From time to time since, or perhaps it was even before, Mr. Hoover said he was for "Boulder Dam." President Coolidge said he was for it. In fact, everybody seems to be for Boulder Dam, but the issue lies in the question of what kind and how the dam should be built.

The whole matter created a hullabaloo in Congress at the last session, but it never reached a point of embarrassing Mr. Hoover. Senator Johnson, apparently by administration con-

WEBB IS NOMINATED BY FARM-LABORITES

Senator Reed Declines Second Place on Ticket and Says He Is Astounded.

CANDIDATE WAS IN ARMY

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 6 (A.P.)—After the presidential nomination tendered him by the executive committee of the Farmer-Labor party he was accepted today by Col. Frank E. Webb of San Francisco, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who was offered the vice presidential candidacy of the party, flatly declined.

"I am not running on the Farmer-Labor ticket or any other ticket," Reed added with emphasis. "I never dreamt of such a thing, nor did Al Smith and the Democratic party."

The presidential nomination was offered Col. Webb, who is an engineer, and was accepted by him according to his statements both to the press in San Francisco and to a telegram to officers of the party meeting here.

With selection of only half a ticket completed in view of Senator Reed's declination, the committee planned to stay in session until its work is finished.

Webb Former Army Officer.

San Francisco, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—The nomination for Senator tendered him by the executive committee of the Farmer-Labor party, meeting in Kansas City, Mo., has been accepted by Col. Frank E. Webb, San Francisco promoter.

Webb, formerly an Army officer, told the Associated Press today he had agreed to accept the nomination after the committee modified the party platform to meet his views on certain matters.

He telephoned his acceptance to Kansas City immediately after receiving an informal notification. He said he had informed the committee that the Volestead act should be submitted to a popular referendum. He declined to discuss his party's platform, but said he would issue a formal statement later giving his views and opinions. He has been a Republican in politics.

By going to Elizabeth, too, Mr. Webb has taken care of another problem that has been harassing Congress for ten years, Muscle Shoals. It is still awaiting disposition by virtue of the pocket veto of Senator Norris' bill in the last session. The committee, however, has decided the Government's participation in business is wrapped up with this matter.

It would seem, though, to call for discussion in the Elizabeth bill, as it is not clear whether the bill, if passed, would be all right for him to discuss the tariff, for North Carolina is a high tariff State, but if he gets into the field of labor costs, which is general strike, industry opens up he will be treading on dangerous ground.

The question arises, in fact, as to whether his very presence near the Tarheel State will not suggest to residents of New England that North Carolina is a Republican New England would do its economic harm and tend to solidify the Democratic ranks. And the outcome is to be too close in Massachusetts and Rhode Island for Mr. Hoover to go very far in reassuring the Southern State.

Mr. Hoover is said already to be giving consideration to his speech. Whether in its final form he will take a definite stand on waterpower and whether he will take issue with Gov. Smith on this subject, remains to be seen. There are those who say he can hardly afford to bring up this question again without doing so.

Opposes Public Ownership.

The impression prevails that he would make known his views they would clash with those of Gov. Smith. The New York Government rulers and owners of power units, as has already been reported, does not bar or discourage private operation, much to the disappointment of the Middle Western program. The general belief is that if Mr. Hoover commits himself his attitude would not be in favor of Government ownership in any form. President Coolidge, whose policies he is pledged to carry on, is a strong advocate of private ownership.

Yet a declaration by Mr. Hoover might prove embarrassing in southern California, if not the whole State. It is conceivable that it might bring about a bitter争 between him and Senator Hiram Johnson.

The senator is basing his campaign on the waterpower "trust" in general, and Boulder Dam in particular. As it is there is noticeable coolness between Mr. Hoover and the senator. In fact, in Southern California, there is an Al Smith-Johnson movement on, and the senator at least has not repudiated it.

Favor Some Kind of Dam.

The Johnson-Swing Boulder Dam bill involves Government ownership. More than a year ago there were reports that an agreement had been reached whereby Senator Johnson was to support the bill, and the latter was to support Senator Dam.

From time to time since, or perhaps it was even before, Mr. Hoover said he was for "Boulder Dam." President Coolidge said he was for it. In fact, everybody seems to be for Boulder Dam, but the issue lies in the question of what kind and how the dam should be built.

The whole matter created a hullabaloo in Congress at the last session, but it never reached a point of embarrassing Mr. Hoover. Senator Johnson, apparently by administration con-

BROOKHART BARES PATRONAGE ABUSE

Says Questionnaire Disclosed Southern Postmasters Heavily Mulcted.

SEES EXPOSE OF G.O.P. AID

(Associated Press)

Chairman Brookhart of the postmaster investigating committee, said yesterday that a questionnaire to Southern postmasters had disclosed that many were contributing out of their salaries for their appointments.

"We found in Georgia," he said, "that those levying assessments against postmasters were receiving from $1,600 to $1,700 a month and we are going to stop it wherever such practice has prevailed."

Brookhart said the committee had nothing against postmasters who were contributing out of their salaries for their appointments, but that it had the support of the Post Office Department in "going after those who are not content until Hamilton was murdered on the morning of July 11, 1804. And Tammany's tactics have not changed from that day to this."

COOLIDGE WILL SEND DISARMAMENT NOTE

VIEWS ARE TO BE EXPRESSED TO PARIS AND LONDON ON ANGLO-FRENCH NAVY PACT.

ACTION AWAITS RETURN

Within the next two weeks an American note will be sent to Great Britain or France, alerting the official attitude of the Government toward the Anglo-French naval agreement. It was learned in official circles yesterday that this action is expected to follow soon after the return of President Coolidge from the summer White House in Wisconsin next week.

What the note will contain is largely a matter of speculation and doubtless will be as brief as possible. A step has been taken by the return of Mr. Coolidge. Nevertheless, it was considered fairly certain in well-informed quarters that the note will be either an unqualified rejection of the agreement or a call for further discussions or what may be termed for further information as to the purposes and scope of the agreement, with perhaps an inquiry as to whether its provisions can be extended to include all classes of auxiliary naval vessels.

Coolidge's Probable Attitude.
Should the former course be followed, the communication may be expected to point out that the United States can not, as yet, be induced to agree to have agreed in its own interest to discuss any naval arms limitation plan that does not fully protect American interests.

It probably will add that, as understood here, the French British plan provides only for the limiting of the classes of vessels—cruisers with 10,000 and 7,500 tons and carrying guns larger than six inches in caliber, and submarines displacing more than 600 tons. Such a restricted system is considered imperatively essential to his national defense, while placing no limit on other classes—smaller cruisers and submarines—which France and England need.

If Japan and Italy were to join Great Britain and France in approving the secret understanding, there might arise the danger that these leading sea powers would accuse the United States of blocking further naval disarmament in the event that this country rejected the plan.

May Follow Second Course.

In view of this possibility many competent observers believe Mr. Coolidge will follow the second course.

Thus, in the exchange of notes on the subject he will place England and France in a position where they would virtually have to admit the plan endangers American naval rights, or at least reveal enough of the true purpose of the secret agreement to rally American public opinion behind the President in his refusal to subscribe to the arrangement.

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS TO MEET ALL LOSSES

Southern Baptist convention whose accounts are said to indicate a shortage of approximately $100,000. was discussed by authorities here yesterday.

John Hudson, assistant solicitor general of the Fulton County Superior Court, said officials of the board had conferred with him and would furnish him with "any documentary evidence that might link Carnes with the reported shortage in the board's accounts."

The board officials said the auditors are far from completing their check of Carnes' books, owing to the location of the board's finances throughout many States. Mr. Hudson said: "We are proceeding with our investigation of the case, but we are proceeding cautiously." Mr. Hudson said it might be a few hours, or a few days, or even longer, before any documentary evidence in the case could be produced.

Carnes disappeared August 15, after telling his chauffeur he was to go to Raleigh, N. C., on business. He has not been heard from since.

Details and Remarried.

While officials of the board and of the executive committee were today reorganizing the board, word reached here from Cartersville, Ga., that Mrs. Carnes had received a divorce from her husband there in 1914. On the ground of desertion, the court had granted her the custody continued while the family lived in Tampa and Westside, Fla., and in Birmingham, Ala.; Atlanta and Cartersville.

"He (Carnes) squandered his income and finally, through some means unknown to the petitioner, he obtained large sums of money from persons in Birmingham, as they allege, by fraudulent means, and was forced to flee to avoid arrest and trial," says the petitioner.

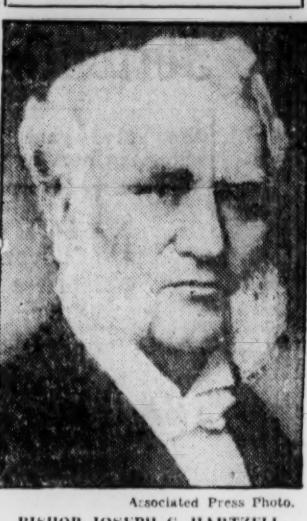

Mr. and Mrs. Carnes were remarried in 1918, after he had become connected with the mission board.

Dr. Arch C. Cree, for several years executive secretary of the Georgia Baptist Convention, today was released by the State organization for 60 days, to serve as executive secretary of the home mission board for that length of time.

He succeeds temporarily Dr. B. D. Gray, for more than 20 years executive secretary of the mission board, who has been named acting treasurer of the board for 60 days.

More to Ordain Women Defeated.
Wilmington, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Ordination of women as ministers of the United Church of Canada is unlikely in the near future, it appeared at today's session of the church's general council. Thirty-two presbyteries voted in favor of ordaining them, 34 were opposed, 23 advised delay and 23 made no report.

PRESIDENT ESCAPES TURMOIL OF PACKING

President Rescues His Fishing Tackle as Household Prepares to Move.

WILL RECEIVE B. H. MEYER

Superior, Wis., Sept. 6 (A.P.)—In summer home in a perfect packing tumult, with trunks and boxes littering all the rooms, President Coolidge decided to make himself scarce round Cedar Island Lodge today and devote one of his last vacation days to more fishing.

With departure for Washington scheduled for early next week, the chief activities at the executive residence and offices were devoted to preparing for the return trip to the Capital. These had gone so far that Mr. Coolidge, early this morning, found his fishing tackle laid aside with a heap of other things destined for burial, to day in a deep trunk. Hastily rescuing his rod and reel, he then removed his monogrammed outside and canoe and was off one of the private lakes on the Cedar Island Lodge estate to fish trout.

President Coolidge is not content with his animal-like vocal productions, and hums to convey his ideas to others. He can pantomime with his hands, his tongue naturally bound these motions. Then our ancestors developed crafts and his hands became expert busy, too, over gestures of the face and tongue and lips, finally the time came when the hands were retired and the tongue took their place.

WALES AND BROTHER DEPART FOR AFRICA

Princes Leave With No Fuss,
Like Ordinary Britons, on
3,300-Mile Trip.

RETURN NEXT JANUARY

London, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—The Prince of Wales and his younger brother, the Duke of Gloucester, started their 3,300-mile trip to Africa today in so casual a manner that Londoners were startled. Tonight they were speeding across France en route to Marseilles, where they will take ship for Egypt.

It probably was the most informal royal departure that modern England has ever known.

The two sons of King George, without any flag waving or official leave taking, boarded the regular boat train for Dover.

They walked through the Victoria Station a few minutes before train time as casually as an ordinary Englishman en route for a day at Brighton Beach.

There was the usual big crowd in the station to wave good-by to them, a majority being women or girls. The royal trainees occupied a reserved drawing room on the train.

Their mission on their five months' trip is to spread good will for the empire in African dominions.

On previous occasions when the prince had been on similar trips there have been royal salutes, guards of honor, gay uniforms and other trappings. It was by his express wish that all fuss was omitted today.

A few suitcases and a big bag of golf clubs were the only articles of luggage in their compartment.

The rest of their equipment, including many modern rifles for target shooting, had been sent ahead.

At the whistle blow, Will stood on the platform, holding with his hand at salute and a happy smile on his face. The princes plan to have Christmas dinner with their uncle and aunt, the Earl and Countess of Athlone, at Cape Town, South Africa. They plan to return home late in January.

Flings Man Overboard

Cobourg, Ontario, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Two men were injured and the $50,000 yacht "Silhouette," owned by W. J. Schoonmaker, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was destroyed in a fire caused by the explosion of the gasoline tank of the boat in the harbor here today.

John McGuire, of Cobourg, was blown into the water, and suffered broken arm. Gerald Harris, of Gore's landing, was severely burned and cut. The explosion was believed to have been caused by the ignition of gasoline fumes.

Mother, 85, Makes Plea
For Son Who Beat Her

Chicago, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Mrs. Minnie Hanke, 85, in a critical condition from a blow over her head, pleaded with police yesterday not to punish her son, who she said should die.

"A mother should close her eyes to the wrongs her child does her," she whispered through her bandages.

The son, Emil, is held on an assault to commit murder charge. Emil said he beat his mother to gain possession of her home. Her skull was fractured.

Escapes From Weak Brakes and Rams Wall; Owner Is Arrested.

Harry V. Leigh, 48 years old, of Vienna, Va., was arrested yesterday on charges of having defective brakes, and failing to park his automobile correctly, when his car took an uniplotted course after he had parked it, and crashed into a building at 1069 Jefferson avenue northwest.

At the time Leigh parked his car it was dark and he could not see well, but he failed to put the brakes tight enough to hold the car in place, police reported. A few minutes after he had gone, the car dashed across from 1070 Jefferson avenue, where he had parked it, ran up onto the sidewalk and continued on its way until it hit a railing against the house owned by Mrs. Laura Weaver.

Upon Leigh's return he found police men waiting for him. Colleagues of the woman he had run over said she should die.

"A mother should close her eyes to the wrongs her child does her," she whispered through her bandages.

The son, Emil, is held on an assault to commit murder charge. Emil said he beat his mother to gain possession of her home. Her skull was fractured.

The 5-year-old son of the couple who was with his mother and father when they registered at the hotel Wednesday, has given officers a clue upon which to work, they said.

The boy said that his mother and father had quarreled earlier in the day, according to police. Vaughn, who was said by officers to have been drinking heavily when arrested, denied any part in the death of his wife and son, but he was identified as a waiter, and said he was a native of Columbia, S. C. He said his wife's home was in Clearwater, Fla.

Chicago "Movies" Strike May Spread

Picture Operators and Stage Hands Threaten to Join the Musicians.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Chicago today faced a possibility of being without movies for the second time in two years.

There was a ray of hope, however, in a peace conference that got under way between exhibitors representing 200 outlying theaters and representatives of musicians in these theaters who walked out on Labor Day, when a Federal injunction prevented union of actors and stagehands in picture houses from reaching an agreement to be employed in the smaller theaters.

The possibility of a general tie-up of all the movie laid in a threat of the moving picture machine operators and stagehands to join in a sympathetic strike. So far the large downtown and some of the larger neighborhood theaters have not been affected as they have contracts that do not expire for another year. Two years ago all movie houses in Chicago were closed for nearly a week as the result of labor troubles.

The 300 theaters affected meanwhile are operating without orchestras or organists.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 6 (A.P.)—John Crosby, Jr., Villa Acuna youth who offered himself as "living bond" for Forrest Whitehead, Del Rio rancher, after the death of his wife, following a fight at Villa Acuna last Saturday, has been released by Mexican authorities. He rejoined his friend on the American side last night, according to a telephone message received today by Mrs. A. D. Whitehead, sister-in-law of Forrest Whitehead.

Kastner died at Villa Acuna Sunday. Whitehead, who admitted having engaged in a fist fight with him, was arrested and released when young Crosby agreed to vouch for him. When Whitehead did not appear for a hearing, Crosby surrendered.

SOMNOLENT LEAGUE COUNCIL HEARS PLEA

Five Members Slumber as
Lithuanian Premier Voices
Claims to Vilna.

POLISH PARLEY PROPOSED

Geneva, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Two hours after telegraphing Lithuania's adhesion to the Kellogg Peace Treaty Prime Minister Waldemarski went today before the Council of the League of Nations and fought forensically for his country's right to raise the question of sovereignty over Vilna.

He declared that Lithuania could have no thought of supporting her claims by force, inasmuch as the world had renounced war as a method of settling disputes.

His sole demand, he said, was to keep the question open so that it could be negotiated by pacific discussion. He was hopeful that normal relations with Poland could soon be reestablished.

His oration occupied three hours and he spoke virtually without notes. His manner was determined and occasionally he pulled his black pompadour. The council, however, appeared overcome by fatigue and five members slept peacefully throughout almost the entire debate.

Polish Parley Sought.

Premier Waldemarski charged that armed bands of persons who had fled from Lithuania still were being permitted to engage in activities on the Polish side of the frontier which had, for their purpose, the overthrow of Lithuania's independence. He blamed Poland for the failure to conclude a plenary conference consisting of Polish and Lithuanian delegates to arbitrate the dispute.

August Zaleski, the Polish minister of foreign affairs, addressed the council in behalf of his Lithuanian rival and offered assurance that Poland had done her utmost.

After the debate the assembly moved to postpone to another session its consideration of its action on the Polish-Lithuanian question.

Motion Pictures Topic.

At a session of the social and humanitarian committee today an Indian delegate appeared to discuss the motion picture industry in his country. The cinema undoubtedly is good for the entertainment of the masses, he said, but it was a double-edged weapon.

The possibility of a general tie-up of all the movie laid in a threat of the moving picture machine operators and stagehands to join in a sympathetic strike. So far the large downtown and some of the larger neighborhood theaters have not been affected as they have contracts that do not expire for another year. Two years ago all movie houses in Chicago were closed for nearly a week as the result of labor troubles.

In India children are being shown films in which all the passions of pre-nuptial love are displayed. This is bringing about serious consequences and serious steps should be taken to prevent the propagation of such objects to make money is something the League of Nations should put a stop to," he said.

Women delegates at the assembly attended the hearing in force and voiced their satisfaction that he had made this communication to the committee.

The committee, which includes the International Cinema Institute which Italy proposes to found under the auspices of the League of Nations, would include a woman on its governing board.

Prohibition Rail Train To Be Run by Germany

Berlin, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—The federal railway administration has ordered that milk markets be installed at strategic points to enable railmen to quench their thirst.

The administration will soon send out a special train to show the workers graphically the injurious effects of drink and the necessity for abstinence. In a letter to employees the administration stated that in view of attempts to improve the speed of trains it was absolutely essential that workers be sober.

The prohibition express will rush from city to city with its lesson of abstinence for all persons identified with railway operations. The authorities say that every one, from the scrub women to division managers, will be included in the crusade. The railway workmen along the way will be required to report for instruction.

HOPES CONFERENCE NEAR

Geneva, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Efforts to drag the United States into discussions of the Rhineland occupation were frowned on today in public statements by Chancellor Mueller of Germany.

He explained that the Germans intended to avoid, above all, any semblance of a "united front" against America by linking interrelated debt and reparations with the evacuation of the Rhineland.

He explained that Germany would not be the first to withdraw troops from the Rhineland. Such a conference, he said, would include Italy, although there are Italian troops of occupation.

THE POLICE CLEAN-UP.

The superintendent of police, Maj. Hesse, has made a belated recommendation looking to the reform of the police trial board, so that chronic offenders may be removed from the force. This is a step that should have been taken long ago, together with other steps that will have to be taken if the Police Department is to be made and kept clean.

The trial board has repeatedly shown its incompetence, or worse, in dealing with chronic offenders. One of its latest acts was to impose a fine of $100 upon a patrolman who had been found guilty of drunkenness for the fourth time. It was a shameful decision, showing clearly that the trial board as constituted is a shield of persistent offenders. The board seemingly has no idea that its duty is to protect the public.

A drunken police officer, carrying a deadly weapon with legal authority to use it, is a menace to the public. No organization that is responsible for the public safety will tolerate a drunken man in its employ. A railroad or traction company employing a drunken engineer or motorman would be subjected to destructive public criticism and heavy damage suits. The Police Department, above all other organizations, must be kept free from drunken men. It should be a standing rule of the trial board that any policeman convicted of intoxication shall be summarily dismissed.

The quality of men admitted to the police force has been deteriorating. This is not the fault of the trial board. It deals only with the personnel already wearing the uniform. If existing law does not permit of a reform in the process of sifting out good material for the force, the Commissioners owe it to the public to ask Congress to change the law without delay. With tested men placed in authority, and with a vigilant trial board ready to throw out incompetent and criminal elements, the force can be kept up to the standard that the public demands.

The police trial board should be changed so that police officers shall not be in the majority. Old associations and sympathetic attachments tend to distort the judgment of any set of men. They acquire the habit of defending their organization against the public instead of defending the public against the misdeeds of members of the organization. For the time being, until the law can be amended so as to place control of the trial board in the hands of competent civilians or jurists, the membership of the board should be shifted, in order that hardened offenders may not be retained in the police force.

THE WORLD OF WELLS.

Announced as a scheme for all human conduct, the new novel of H. G. Wells turns out to be a work on arrested social development. Having traveled half over the sad trail of the race, the author of the celebrated "Outlines" now arrives at the point of his conclusion. The vain ambitions and the might of kings" have been reviewed as the bases of present human society. Wells' results are here recorded in what he announces to be his final word upon the subject. There is an eager urge laid upon publicists to announce their life's conclusions, and Mr. Wells belongs to this class. Socialists, and he is of the arana, always do. Hence "The Open Conspiracy" expresses the belief that a world order can be constructed out of the "patchwork of particularist governments." He has gathered together the scraps and is now to start the quilting of these in a governmental covering for "all mankind." After long reclining upon the couch of the present world order, he has taken up the lament of the worthy of old, "the bed is too short for me to stretch myself on and the covers too narrow for me to cover myself with." The book is verbally illustrated to convey his idea of how the ideal governmental scheme would appear when completed, with the world shaken out of its grooves.

One thing will be missing in the new order—creeds. "The old faiths have become unconvincing," but "intimations of a new faith" have appeared in the skies of Wells. He has caught the vision and is on his way. Why have all the diverse governments and faiths for the unwashed democracy? Intelligence will rule the world of Wells. It is surprising that he does not see that John Calvin antecipated him by his doctrine of "elections," with reprobation for all not so included. But H. G. sums up his own masterpieces of world reconstruction as follows: World "biological controls (eugenics), a world economic system (international socialism), a world directorate of subsistence, minimum standards of individual freedom (depression of the masses), subordination of personal life to a world directorate (more of the same)."

Most men at H. G.'s time of life begin to blow bubbles, but they do not have the same unlimited supply of social soap. Surely this is not his last word and testament. The world for gentry's sake demands more of the welling of Wells' philosophy. The times are sadly out of joint, H. G., and one program of reconstruction can hardly suffice for all time and all mankind. Keep at it!

SCIENCE AND THE SOUL.

Addressing the British Association for the Advancement of Science, its president, Sir William Bragg, informed his audience and the world that science recognizes the existence of the soul. His affirmation should prove quickening to psychologists. They have here, for perhaps the first time, an opportunity to correlate their science basically upon physics, rather than to have it continue as more or less an adjunct of biology. Where the biologist begins his story of evolution and life, the physicist has ended his story of cosmic and continuing creation. But Sir William flatly states that the essence of psychology runs throughout the range of the primal forces, that the electron carries the "measure of man," to use the scientific suggestive apocalyptic phrase. In a word, there is nothing in the science of physics that calls for the denial of the soul. Its existence is, in fact, presumed. This postulate, pronounced in the presence of the former president of the association, who a year ago had made denial of the existence of the soul, so far as science could discover, indicates that men of science are beginning to realize that it is as "unscientific" to scoff at something they have not yet learned as it is to make an assertion that they can not prove.

Coincidentally there is reported from England a revival of interest in immortality, a theme which is now echoing through its pulpits, after a period of abeyance such as is noticeable here. The assurance given to the leading scientific body of Britain will not lack response from the pulpit, or fail to afford a governing impulse to those psychologists who are ready to harness consciousness to the sun, in lieu of deciding its fate by commonplace facts of human behavior.

BIG BILL'S JOB.

Major William Hale Thompson of Chicago comes home today. Since "America First" was rejected in the primary and his machine was wrecked Big Bill has been sojourning in the wilds of northern Wisconsin. He has lost during his sojourn most of his prestige and power in Illinois. Will he try to stage a political comeback?

Pressing matters await his honor. Morris Eller, city solicitor and Thompson's lieutenant, is battling an indictment in criminal court charging felony. Eller's son, Judge Eller, faces a similar indictment. Senator Deneen has assumed charge of the city and State campaign and is running things with a high hand. At the present moment his honor is decidedly out of the picture and the regular Republicans are wondering whether he will be content to stay out or whether he will declare war with his irregulars.

It will soon be seen what aid Big Bill can offer the Ellers. It will not take long to establish whether or not Senator Deneen is to be counted friend or foe. Let Big Bill get busy! There is work to do, especially in connection with advising his colleague, Mayor Mackay, how to clean up Philadelphia.

MEXICAN SAVINGS.

The investments made by Mexicans in the United States is surprisingly large. Home investment mostly takes the form of real estate, while the money that comes to the United States supports varied forms of enterprise. The saving habit is growing below the border, and adequate provisions both for stimulating the habit and providing for it have been initiated by the recent action of the national banking convention. This body has recommended that the general banking law be amended to permit the establishment by all banks of savings departments.

Banks organized upon a purely popular basis, with small savings as their principal business, are also recommended to be set up throughout the country. Thus it is believed the people, who are rising in the average of prosperity, will be encouraged to the kind of accumulation which works not alone for their direct benefit but creates a habit of confidence in established institutions and greater regard for the stability of the government itself.

The latest chapter in the marital and associated interests of the maharajah is that which tells of the suit of a woman who charges that he had lured her and her young daughter into his power and had kept them prisoners for eleven years because she would not consent to the type of relations which he demanded with the daughter.

from releasing one of the bonding companies, even after it should make good, in view of the evidence that the treasurer has a criminal record.

This is indicative of the intention of the courts to sift the case to the bottom, rather than a reflection upon the company. So many evidences of the astuteness of criminals in covering their records are at hand that it seems to be difficult indeed to make sure of any one who holds a fiduciary trust. It may be that finger-print record will eventually be required in the cases of responsible custodians of trust funds. Assurances have been forthcoming from other departments of the Baptist organization that the Mission Board will not be left to carry the loss, which at a stroke may sever the slender incomes of many devoted men and women who are working in pioneer localities and in educational enterprises in the Southern mountains.

INGERSOLL'S WATCH.

The death of Robert Ingersoll, inventor of the dollar watch, brings to a close a romantic and tragic story of American business. In 1892 while he was selling novelties in a tiny New York shop, with an alarm clock as his model, he developed the first of the 70,000 timepieces that bore his name. Immediately the product gained public favor and in a short time the novelty shop with the name Ingersoll over the door had been supplanted by a factory devoting its energies to the production of cheap timepieces. At the height of Ingersoll's success he had factories scattered throughout the world employing thousands of men. Then came the war. Production costs mounted and the Ingersoll watch no longer could be marketed for a dollar. Sales decreased and in 1921 the Ingersoll Co. went into the hands of a receiver, with the fortune of Robert Ingersoll sadly depleted.

It was more than a cheap watch that Robert Ingersoll gave the American people. He entered upon the economic scene at a time when the United States had just begun to speed up. He gave the people a means within reach of their pocketbooks of keeping track of the moments. He made time the property of the masses.

Upon his deathbed Robert Ingersoll directed that certain watches in his possession be given to the Smithsonian Institution for its exhibit covering the history of watchmaking in the United States. There they fittingly belong. Others now carry on the work of producing cheap timepieces for the world, but to one who in childhood and youth hoarded pennies for the day when one could become the proud possessor of a watch that actually kept time the name of Robert Ingersoll is indelibly engraved in memory.

It accounted for much of the attention that was paid to the marriage of an American girl to the former maharajah, Nancy Ann Miller's adoption of her husband's faith, with his name, and her entrance upon a strange environment, with all the appurtenances of Oriental luxury, though had a thrill for many other romantic American maidens.

The latest chapter in the marital and associated interests of the maharajah is that which tells of the suit of a woman who charges that he had lured her and her young daughter into his power and had kept them prisoners for eleven years because she would not consent to the type of relations which he demanded with the daughter.

40,000,000 TO HEAR BIG RADIO BANQUET

20 Acts Selected From 400
Submitted for Presentation on September 18.

VIBRAPHONE SOLO 9 P.M.

A banquet with 40,000,000 guests is the way the sponsors are heralding the fifth annual radio industries banquet to be held in the Hotel Astor, New York City, on national radio festival day, September 18.

More than 77 stations are said to have notified their intention to broadcast the banquet program between 9 and 11 o'clock, Eastern standard time, and it is believed the number will be increased long before it is time for the banquets to go on stage.

There is a good-natured competition on the part of radio manufacturers who are striving to select an act which will give the listening audience the most pleasure. More than 400 available acts were turned down by the sponsors last year's banquet from which approximately 20 were selected for presentation. Six manufacturers, so far, have announced their selection for this year. They are: Ernestine Schuchman, John C. Charles, Thomas Paul Whiteman, Moran and Mack, Panama Brice and Vincent Lopez.

An arrangement of Roy Bass' "Pianoflage" for two pianos and orchestra and four numbers, as well as selections by Victor Herbert and Richard Drigo, and gems from the operetta "San Toy," by Jones, promise to uphold the high musical standard of the Cities Service Hour at 11 o'clock from the WRC-Pascua Pianocentermeister of the Cities Service Orchestra, has chosen two selections—a waltz of Brahms and "Gypsy Dance" by Nachez—for his violin solo. The Cavaliers will do a medley of request numbers, the negro spiritual, "Good News," Charlot's "Comin'" and "Sweet Rosie O'Grady."

A concert orchestra under the direction of Cesare Sodero, Emily Wooley, soprano; Marillie Kohary, violinist; Paul Mazzoni, Jackson, cello, and the Choristers, are the featured artists to be heard in the National Broadcast and Concert Bureau Hour at 9 o'clock.

The baritone, "Oh, Lovely Night!" from Offenbach's opera, "The Tales of Hoffmann," will be played as a vibraphone solo during the Stromberg-Carlson period from WJZ and WBAL at 9 o'clock tonight.

Stanley Weston has added a new and late feature for local listeners like to tune in after 11 o'clock in the Back Home Hour of Music, to be broadcast from the Washington Auditorium until midnight. Friday, Monday, and Wednesday, "The Marchion" is a unique instrumental and vocal music, a sort of instrumental and vocal music, with Dr. Allen, of the Bosworth Evangelical party, at the microphone.

Emil Jolson, brother of Al Jolson, who is a regular feature from WTOP, offers a program of popular numbers at 9 o'clock.

Frederick William Wile will return to the air on Wednesday evening, September 19, with his talk about "The Political Situation in Washington Tonight," and will be heard each Wednesday evening thereafter during the winter.

WIDE FLUCTUATIONS MARK WILD TRADING

Losses Outnumber Gains in 4,300,000-Share Mart:
Steel at New Top.

LATE RECOVERY SETS IN

Special to The Washington Post
New York, Sept. 6.—Wall street is in a wild swing with 4,300,000 shares a day the rule rather than the exception on the New York Stock Exchange. The bears made a better showing against the bulls in today's lively session, but no real weakness appeared. Naturally there were many losses on the day, though, but the gains generally were much the larger.

The big fighting centered around United States Steel, which, in large-volume dealings, soared in the afternoon to a new high at 150%, up 1%. Curtiss, which gained 10% net, Wright, up 6 points; Briggs Manufacturing at a new high, with a gain of 4 points. Radio, down 3%, and Chrysler, with a loss of 1%.

There were many other heavy gainers and losers, giving the market altogether a decidedly irregular appearance. The day's turns approximated 4,300,000 shares, the heaviest general trading in the early part of the session, when for a time it looked as if the bears had the bulls thoroughly on the run, many of yesterday's leaders standing for losses ranging from 2 or more cents.

The last hour and a half saw a majority of issues recovering, but a great number of them failed to get back their closing prices of yesterday.

A few oil stocks, airplane stocks and a few others showed a downward movement from the outset, and most of them refused to be thrown off their course by aggressive bear pressure. When the rest of the list went its welcome United States was climbing to a new high. The close of the session it was noted that more than 25 stocks had attained new highs for the year or longer, and 3 new lows.

Surgeousness over the Federal Reserve brokerage loan figures made public after the market's close undoubtedly was one of the most unsettling influences of the day. The call money market also took a sharp turn, the speculator community having turned itself against a firmer tone earlier in the week, but the raising of the rate to-day from 7½ per cent, at which level renewals were made, to 8 per cent, was not unexpected.

The banks called about $20,000,000. Bankers expect the Treasury announcement of third liberty loan refunding plans on Saturday. While no one seems to feel sure as to when its welcome United States was climbing to a new high. The close of the session it was noted that more than 25 stocks had attained new highs for the year or longer, and 3 new lows.

Trading in stocks set a terrific pace at the opening gong and eased up only for a short time after midday, with the tape running well over half an hour before again at frequent intervals throughout the afternoon. The market's rise, which began late in July, is not being viewed as having been rapid and extensive enough to have placed the market in a position more or less vulnerable to a quick fall of bad news. The market's chance to be interested in public speculators appear to be as came to "get into the game" as they were in the spring bulge.

The steel and oil shares were flung into the air when the market threatened to falter, with General Motors, Chrysler, Radio, Warner Pictures and other leaders giving ground under powerful pressure. United States Steel common was made the center of buying, and the enormous interest, and as the session wore on demand spread to embrace American Can, American Linseed, Briggs Manufacturing, Barnesdale A, Bayard Cigars, Fox Film, the airplane stocks, Standard Oil, Rockwell, Co., and the like.

CARRIER BONDS LEAD IN CAUTIOUS TRADING

Day's Small Dealings Embrace Broad Variety of Issues.

FOREIGN LIST IS FIRM

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—A somewhat troubled credit situation caused traders to stick close to shore in the bond market today and while the volume of sales was larger than in some time it represented chiefly small transactions in a wide variety of issues. Sales were the main support of the market, although some utilities, oils and other industrials were firm.

Callings of upward of $30,000,000 in loans by banks and increase of the call money rate to 8 per cent. were disquieting factors which made price movements somewhat erratic. fears of an increase in brokers' loans were realized after the close.

Secondary rails were more in demand than the first grade issues. Chicago, Northwestern Generals, 4s, Chicago & St. Louis, 4s, & Southeastern, 5s, Mobile & Ohio, 4s, & Oregon & Northern 4½s and Seaboard Air Lines 6s were lifted to nearly 3 points. Other gains in the railroad group were chiefly fractional. St. Paul 5s, Great Lakes 5s, Frisco 4s and Pennsylvania 6s were among the issues to seek lower levels.

Oils and utilities led the rise in the industrial group, with California Petroleum 5s, Phillips Petroleum 5½s, Penn Oil 5½s and Sunoco Petroleum 6s prominent in the advance. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s continued profit taking, but Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, Utah Power & Light 5s, International Telephone 4½s and others advanced at point or more. Barnard 6s, Concourse 6s and some other recent favorites showed unbroken gains.

The foreign list was firm. Mexico 6s assented in 1933, Kingdom of 7s and Argentina 6s attracted the greatest demand.

U.S. Government obligations were inclined to heave in the eve of an expected announcement of new treasury financing.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $2,500,000 Pennsylvania Gas & Electric bonds. It is understood that an offering of $10,000,000 Illinois Power & Light Corporation first and refunding 5 per cent bonds will be made shortly.

An offering of about $6,000,000 Memphis Gas Co. first mortgage bonds is to be made in the near future as preliminary financing for the proposed $10,000,000 pipe line to be built over the 200 miles between the Louisiana fields and Memphis.

HUGGINS NOW FEARS NATS AS WELL AS ATHLETICS

Giant Tackle Of G. U. Out For Year

Kilboris Breaks Collarbone During Stunts for Cameramen.

Walsh and Muir Gain Notice in Battle for Line Berths.

By ARTHUR A. HEYWOOD
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

WILLOWOOD, N. J., Sept. 6.—Georgetown University's Football team will be back in action Saturday when it was learned that Albert Kilboris, giant tackle from the South Boston High School, a freshman last year, would be lost to the team for the entire season due to a fractured collarbone.

Kilboris sustained the injury last Saturday during a series of stunts on the beach for moving picture cameramen. He was injured while diving, but the extent of the injury was undetermined until this afternoon when Drs. Flight and Hancock, who are with the University of Pennsylvania team at Cape May, examined the player and announced that he would be unable to play for the rest of the season.

The Georgetown Team will receive its first test Saturday when it breaks camp for a 35-mile tour of the Atlantic field at Atlantic City for a scrimmage with the Temple University Eleven, providing weather permits.

The practice test hinged today on whether the team could be able to practice today and tomorrow. A steady rain which gave no indications of abating forced the Georgetown squad indoors this morning where the men were given a brief respite from plays and drills, but as the rain continued throughout the afternoon, the coaches, in seeming desperation, ordered the men again to report to the field where a workout was staged despite the wet weather.

With the rain a northeaster and no signs of immediate let up the men were ordered to don light equipment this afternoon and were sent through an hour and a half workout in the mud, consisting largely of faking, falling and running sprints.

The work and Muir is especially attracting the attention of the coaches. Muir, a sturdy, stocky fullback, is battling for a line position and has a powerful charge, while Walsh, a tough right end, the fast and is conceded capable of holding down a varsity berth in the line.

Everybody was a little more at ease today when John Hudack, veteran back, reported here. He has been expected every day for the last three or four days. Coach Little expects that Hudack will develop into his most reliable passer.

Bucky O'Neil May Coach Mohawk Football Team

Bucky O'Neil, varsity half back at Georgetown, is being sought as coach by the Mohawk A. C. football team this season when the Mohawks will attempt to regain the city championship. He is the choice of the Apaches to succeed Ty Rauber.

O'Neil, who won the Western amateur championship two weeks ago, predicted that the tee shot was going to be treacherous. "I portent next week," he said. "Brace Burn is a course where a player must control his drives if he expects to get anywhere in the championship test."

Twenty-three candidates, including him, but three members of last year's championship team, answered the first call for players at a meeting of the Apaches' board of directors. In accordance with the custom, captain and star fullback of the University of Maryland last fall, who will cast his lot with the Apaches this season. Only Cornell, halfback, and Thompson, end, will not return to the Apaches. First practice will be held at Union League Park Sunday morning.

CUBS SEEK PITCHERS.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Sixty-nine men, including Joe McCarthy of the Cubs, are scouting for more pitching talent. He conferred yesterday with Bruno Betzel, manager of the Indianapolis Club of the American Association, but no announcement was made.

GEORGE VON ELM,

Pacific Coast star and former holder of the national amateur golf title, whose sensational play of late has stamped him as Bobby Jones' chief rival in the tournament next week.

SIMONDINGER SOUGHT BY APACHES

KEN SIMONDINGER, coach of the Gonzaga High School Football Team and former Holy Cross star, is the choice of the Apaches to succeed Ty Rauber.

During the day Mal Charles O'Hehir, of the British Walker Cup team, was expected to arrive from the Appleton, Wis., tournament, the second of the season, to compete in the tournament next week.

Frank Dohr and Dan Moe, both of Portland, Ore., were another pair who practiced at Brae Burn during the day. Both of these far Westers have characterized the course as a real championship test.

"I am looking for a champion," said Linkus, captain and star fullback of the University of Maryland last fall, who will cast his lot with the Apaches this season. Only Cornell, halfback, and Thompson, end, will not return to the Apaches. First practice will be held at Union League Park Sunday morning.

ROSS' DREADNAUGHT, 20-1, WINS BELMONT FEATURE

Arlington.

BELMONT RACETRACK, N. Y., Sept. 6 (A.P.)—On a muddy track and before a very poor crowd due to the bad weather, Samuel Ross' (the Washington Post) filly, Dreadnaught, made $21,000 in the Matron Stakes here today. The Matron Stakes had a furious drive by a nose from the Sage Stable's Fly Light, with Bravery, the other half of the Sage Stable entry third. It was a hot drive all the way and the winner was in doubt until the official numbers were hung out. The race was worth $7,250.

The Matron Stakes is one of the oldest filly events on the Westchester Racing Association card and ten horses participated. The start was good and Exposay appeared to have led the field in the first quarter. Then came the turn and DREADNAUGHT was leading head and head. In the final stretch it appeared that Fator, who had the mount on Fly Light, got home but DREADNAUGHT came fast and won by a head. Fly Light took the place by a head with Bravery third.

Arlington Race Track, Ill., Sept. 6 (A.P.)—Illegitimate, the public choice with H. Philpot up, won the Arlington Park Handicap at 6 furlongs for all ages, the fifth and feature event on the program here this afternoon. Gracious Gift was second by two lengths and third. It, coupled with Wartington on the three-horse Show, finished fourth.

That's it set the pace to the stretch turn where the winner took the lead and won handily by a length and a half. His time was 1:12 and paid $47.78 in the mutuels. This was Jockey Philpot's second winning mount today.

LEAGUE NINES FACE 3 TITLE CONTESTS

CAPITAL CITY LEAGUE teams in three groups will go down the stretch tomorrow and Sunday. The first of the games for the unlimited championship will be played Sunday, when the Georgians, A. C. and Authors meet at the Washington Barracks at 3 o'clock. The second game will be between the same teams in contests that will begin in the former instance at three-game series for that championship and the latter instance the first two games. The latter instants the second game will be on tap in the senior division, however, tomorrow between the Brown & Wood and Authors, tied for the first half title, the winner of this battle engaging the second half winner, for the championship of the senior division. The Saturday game will be played on the North Ellipse at 3 o'clock.

In the insect game the Royals and Brookland Boys' Club will fight it out Sunday, when the Nationals will have the Tri-Speakers to eliminate that team from contention. The Speakers were tied for first place along with the Royals and Brookland Boys' Club. The latter drew the bye at a meeting, so the draw was in the players, and according to the draw would play the winner between the Royal-Speakers game.

Nats to Play Twin Bill With Red Sox Sunday

The second Sunday double-header of the season will be played here next Sunday, when the Nationals meet the Red Sox in the opening games of their series.

The Red Sox originally were scheduled to meet the Nats in a single game on Sunday, with a double-header following on Monday, but Washington Club officials announced a change yesterday.

DAM FORMS LAKE, BUT STOPS FLOOD FROM HEAVY RAIN

Sand and Gravel Wash Kept Out of Sewers' Mouths and Off Streets.

BASEMENTS ALL ESCAPE ANOTHER INUNDATION

Citizens Send In No Complaints and Engineers Satisfied With Results.

Emergency steps taken a fortnight ago following heavy rains succeeded in protecting the neighborhood surrounding Ingram and Seventh streets northwest from a recurrence of flooded basements and streets in the steady rainfall of Wednesday and yesterday.

Inspectors of the sewer department watched the situation intently and reported yesterday that the sewers and catch basins had remained clear of the obstructions which caused the earlier trouble. Clerks of the sewer department reported that no complaints had been received.

It was revealed yesterday that an additional dam had been constructed across the denuded valley, the trough of which corresponds roughly with Ingram street, and in the vicinity of Fifth street after the erection of the wooden dam at Second street and Hamilton street extended and the treatment of sewer ends and manholes in that vicinity.

Both Dams Successful.

The first dam had been for the purpose of diverting clear water from the area not stripped of grass and trees, so that it would flow, still clear, into the end of the 5-foot spur of the Piney Branch, combining stormwater and sanitary sewer.

The dam served its purpose yesterday and the day before.

The second dam of gravel, was thrown up to keep the water that might sweep the sandy valley where grading has been done, from washing down to the houses at the foot of the valley, and also from filling catch basins and sewers with sand again necessitating their cleaning a second time within a month.

Dam Forms Safety Lake.

Water was backed up by the dam, standing about 1½ feet above the area yesterday and four feet, or 1½ feet deep. The lake acted as a settling basin, holding the water until the sand was precipitated to the bottom, and then running off to the sewers over the top and trickling through so as not to enter the sewer system in a sudden rush, carrying an impeding material.

The dam succeeded in acting thus as a bulwark to protect residents and the sewer system, saving several thousand dollars that otherwise might have been required to be spent digging sand out through manholes.

Coroner Will Investigate Child Death in Court

D. J. Ramsay Nevitt, District attorney, yesterday ordered an autopsy performed on Emma Jackson, 11 months old, colored, who died in her mother's arms yesterday in Police Court.

The mother, Emma Jackson, was in court ready to testify against Mattie Bowe, a colored, charwoman, accused on Gladys Jackson, a sister of Elite May. The mother discovered her baby had stopped breathing shortly before the case was called. She carried the infant to the corridor, unnoticed, as court proceeded. The baby was pronounced dead at Emergency Hospital. Mattie Bowe is free on $10 collateral.

Tragedy Tragedies Doubled in August

Eighteen Deaths Reported; Accidents Also More for This Year.

Traffic accidents in August increased considerably. There were 643, according to police statistics made public yesterday, ten persons having been killed and 281 having suffered minor personal injuries. Property damage resulted in 391 instances.

The number of deaths was twice that of July. In August, 1927, there were nine fatalities. Instead of the 643 recorded last month there were but 329 accidents in August, 1927, and 562 in August, 1926.

Arrests for traffic violations, on the other hand, declined. There were 3,629 of these, 1,266 or one-third, for parking offenses, 465 for speeding, 330 for infractions of the rules governing display of lights, 207 forreckless driving, 283 for disobeying official signs, 105 for driving under the influence, 45 for not having registration cards, 61 for driving through safety zones, 45 for driving while drunk, 34 for leaving after colliding, and 28 for cutting corners. The remainder were for scattered offenses. The average was 117 arrests for all offenses each day.

Delay Will Be Sought In Broken-Neck Hearing

Assistant District Attorney William Collins declared yesterday that he would request a continuance of the hearing of Sam E. Paulin, 17, charged with the murder of 508 G street northwest, before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage today on a charge of aiding Dr. Louis Hoffman in the performance of the illegal operation of Miss Ethel Lehman.

Dr. Hoffman is serving 30 years in prison, having pleaded guilty to second-degree murder of Miss Lehman.

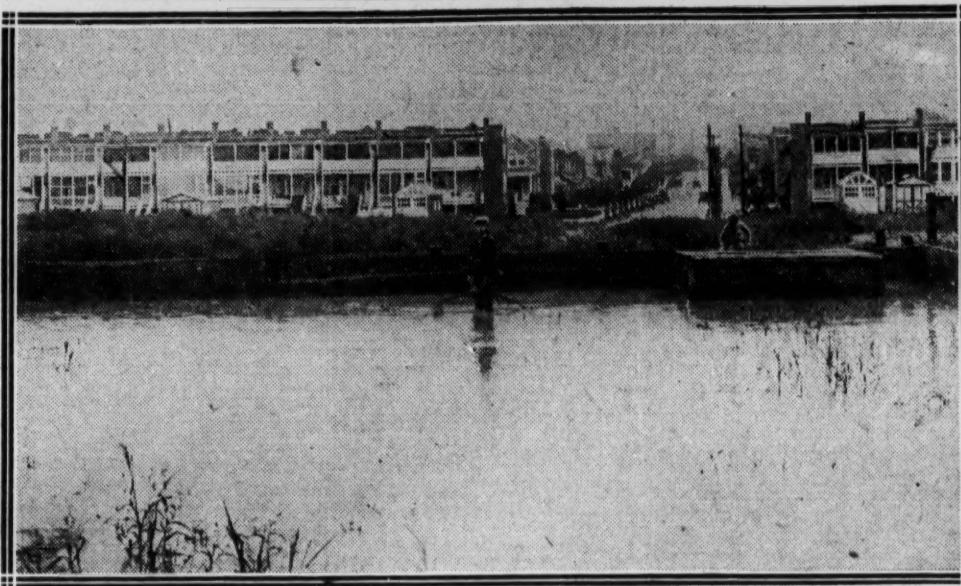

Washash was arrested last Friday by Lieut. Edward Kelly, last night, on a warrant issued by Commissioner Turnage. He was freed in $1,500 bond pending a hearing. At the same time a warrant was issued for the arrest of Charles Parker, said to live in Philadelphia, the same day. Charles Parker was brought here from Philadelphia, found to be the wrong man and was released. Police are still seeking the Parker for whom the warrant was issued.

Name Fails to Prevent Jail Term for Al Smith

Alfred Smith, 30 years old, faced Judge John P. McMahon, a Democrat in Police Court yesterday, but the name made no difference. The court sentenced the defendant to 30 days in jail for assault.

Smith was arrested by Policeman A. J. Moretti, of the First Precinct. Although he was registered at the station, tried and sent to jail under the name of Smith, police believe, as a result of investigation, that he gave the name of Alfred Smith as an appeal for sympathy.

IMPROVISED DAM HALTS FLOODING OF STREET

Precautionary measures to prevent future home-flooding in the vicinity of Third and Hamilton streets northwest, which was inundated by the heavy rains of last month, reached their climax with the erection of this improvised dam by District engineers and sewer department workers. The dam met its first test in yesterday's rain, no damage being reported in the neighborhood.

DEAD MAN IN BOAT EMPLOYEE ON DREDGE

Identified as C. D. Swendson by Man Who Had Been on Spree With Him.

HIS STORY OF TRAGEDY

Carl D. "Sergeant" Swendson, 45 years old, an employee on Dredge No. 5 of the Columbia Granite & Construction Co., is the man who was found dead Wednesday with his head and part of his body hanging over the side of a rowboat on the Potomac. He lived at Fort Totten, Md. Identification was accomplished late yesterday, according to H. E. Fowler, officer handling the case.

Yesterday was moving day for Cloud and in transporting his furniture from the old address at 313 Virginia avenue, he got his clothing wet. The day being cool, Cloud soon thereafter was experiencing extreme discomfort.

Pondering at length upon his predicament, Cloud all of a sudden landed Henry Cloud, colored, 57 years old, 808 Virginia avenue southwest, in a cell at the Eighth Precinct Station with a charge of arson against his name.

Yesterday was moving day for Cloud and in transporting his furniture from the old address at 313 Virginia avenue, he got his clothing wet. The day being cool, Cloud soon thereafter was experiencing extreme discomfort.

Mr. Schatz was found by his son-in-law, Joseph Dean, with whom he resided. The gas was flowing freely in the kitchen on the first floor of the home. It is believed he lighted the range to heat the room and had gone to the bathroom, where he was overcome by the fumes that filled the room after the light in the range was extinguished.

Mr. Schatz was prominent in the Grand Army of the Republic. His death delayed plans to attend the encampment meeting at the National Capital on September 15.

After the war Mr. Schatz entered the regular service of the U.S. Army, where he was employed for approximately 40 years. He was a member of the Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia, the Masonic Order and the Knights Templar. He was a native of Canada.

Surviving him are one son, Elmer Schatz, and three daughters, Mrs. Clara E. Dean, Mrs. Caroline Kenny and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Long, all of Washington. Mr. Schatz's father was Dr. Leon Schatz, a surgeon in the Union Army during the Civil War.

MATE-HUNTING MEN EXCEED HUNTRESSSES

Letters to Helen Davis Show Predominance of Lonely Males in the Land.

WANT TO BE LOOKED OVER

The letters that have come to Miss Helen Davis indicate there are more lonely and marriage-minded men in America than there are women.

Miss Davis, who is trying to organize a cross-country husband-hunting expedition, said yesterday that fully three-fourths of the letters she has received are from men. And such men!

Nearly every one of them proclaims himself as a "good, clean-living man."

Many of them point out that they neither drink, smoke nor gamble. One of them describes himself as a "perfect gentleman." All of them want wives.

A lonely farmer, living near Indianapolis, Ind., told Miss Davis that he was looking for a "good, virtuous woman" who would marry him and settle down among the cows and chickens. He said he had $3,000 in the bank.

Another farmer, whose place is at New Baden, Texas, not far from Houston, told Miss Davis that she was the same type of woman that an astrologer had told him he would marry. He enclosed a photo of himself and wrote: "I am a good, honest fellow" that the astrologer had given him.

"You also would be harmonious with a Sagittarius or Gemini character," it read, "but much depends upon the position of the other planets."

A man from New York, from Little Rock, Ark., said he would "work my hands off" for the right woman. He hinted Miss Davis to stop and look him over on the way across the country with her mate-hunting companions.

Miss Davis said yesterday that she was corresponding with a dozen of women who want to make the trip with her, and that she expects to have the expedition organized in the near future.

$517,000 Bid Received On Junior High School

Charging that she is permanently disabled as the result of an automobile collision last February 14, Mrs. Bessie H. Guerry, wife of Homer Guerry, of the Mills Building, yesterday filed suit in District Superior Court to recover $100,000 damages from Malicott, Mallow, 621 Delafield street northwest.

Through Attorney Charles H. Collins the plaintiff declared that she was riding in an automobile with her husband and a car driven by Malicott collided with her husband's vehicle on Fifth street and Rock Creek Church road northwest. The defendant, she charged was driving at an excessive rate of speed.

ADMIRAL WINSLOW RITES

Retired Medical Director Will be Buried Today at Arlington.

Funeral services for Rear Admiral George Frederick Winslow, M. C. U. S. N., retired, who died at his home in New Bedford, Mass., Monday, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Arlington National Cemetery. Burial will be in the cemetery.

Admiral Winslow was born in New Bedford on May 8, 1842, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Giles Winslow. Appointed to the Naval Academy in 1862, he was advanced through the various grades to the position of medical director, was granted a commission in the Navy in 1864. At his own request he was retired from the naval service on January 19, 1903, with the rank of rear admiral.

On September 26, James E. Evans, chairman of the orthopedic committee reported seven new cases with a total of $60 this year, 147 of which are active.

Don Deacher of Hagerstown, Md., and E. W. Darling of Bradenton, Fla., were guests at luncheon. Capt. Ward Martin, former member of the Fort Collins, Colorado, Club, was introduced as a new member.

Maj. Wright Wins D. S. C. For Exploits in World War

Capital Man Bested Four German Planes and Machine Gun Nests.

For beating off four German planes and breaking up German machine gun nests in a World War battle, the Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded to Maj. Burdette S. Wright, 313 P street northwest, the War Department announced yesterday.

Maj. Wright, now an Air Corps reserve officer, receives the cross for extraordinary heroism in action in the vicinity of Villeroy, France, September 19, 1918, when he was a first lieutenant and observer with the Twelfth Aero Squadron of the Air Service of the United States.

Wright, the official citation states, with First Lieutenant Robert C. Paradise, pilot, were assigned the duty of locating the American front lines during the first two hours of the Argonne offensive. Unable to locate the lines at the usual altitude, Wright and his comrade took to flying down to the dangerous altitude of 50 meters, secured the important information sought and discovered American lines held up by a strongly held nest of enemy machine guns.

Noting the exact location of the nest upon their map they flew back to division headquarters and reported the exact location of the lines, as well as that of the enemy machine gun nests.

Again gaining altitude, they discovered the nest and destroyed by fire an enemy signal station, signaling unopposed, two kilometers north of the lines. This act was performed at an altitude of 50 meters amid a storm of protection fire from enemy aircraft.

Thus, causing the gunners to abandon their guns and positions and enabling the troops of their division to capture the lines.

REPUBLICANS UNITE

IN DRIVE TO OBTAIN 60,000 VOTES HERE

Campaign Committee Formed by Five of Capitol's Hoover Bodies.

PRESCOTT CHAIRMAN AND DOW SECRETARY

Operations Will Be Started at Once; Instructions Are Offered Citizens.

A Republican campaign committee for the District of Columbia, consisting of two representatives from each of the five local Republican organizations, was appointed yesterday. There are 60,000 absentee voters here, and it will be the task of the committee to line up as many of them as possible for the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

Samuel J. Prescott, veteran Republican worker here, was appointed chairman of the campaign committee, and W. J. Dow was appointed secretary. The committee will work under the direction of the Republican State Committee in and for the District of Columbia.

Organizations Included.

The organizations which will have two representatives each on the campaign committee are the League of Republican State Clubs, the Republican State Voter Association, the League of Republican Women, the Hoover and Curtis Club, and the Hoover and Curtis League. The latter is composed of colored admirers of Herbert Hoover.

At yesterday's meeting, the local leaders prepared a campaign budget which will be submitted to the executive committee of the State committee at a meeting this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Republican headquarters, 823 Fifteenth street northwest.

Instruction for Voters.

The executive committee also will consider plans for opening a bureau of information for absentee voters on the first floor of a building on Fifteenth street between H and I streets northwest.

It is expected that this bureau will be opened Monday.

A score of workers, headed by A. E. Chaffee, will be on hand to instruct absentees voters as to how to cast their ballots.

At yesterday's meeting, those present in addition to Mr. Prescott and Mr. Dow, were E. C. Snyder, of the League of Republican State Clubs; John Lewis, of the Hoover and Curtis Club; Mrs. Charles C. Thompson, of the Republican State Voter Association, and Dr. Charles Marshall, of the Hoover and Curtis League.

First of Marne Battles Also Commemorated by Patriotic Bodies.

LONG PROMINENT IN CITY

Arthur James Schatz, 75 years old, 918 G street southeast, formerly post commander in the Grand Army of the Republic, was found dead late yesterday afternoon on the second floor of his home in the 15th street between H and I streets northwest.

He was a member of the Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia, the
